Dear Sponsors and Supporters,

April 2016

Dan sent us this email several weeks ago, along with a few photos showing how much fun his granddaughters were having packing buckets for needy families:

"On Friday our grandkids, Courtney and Sydney came over to our house to pack food buckets for the needy students living in Sakila, Tanzania. The buckets were filled with plastic containers of beans and rice and other things such as lintels, spam, flour and as much candy as we could stuff around the edges. Each bucket also contained Bible coloring books and crayons. Doing missionary work for the Lord is fun and rewarding." ~ God Bless, Dan

Around that time, Patrick, Headmaster of the Primary School in Sakila, sent us this story of Angella and a photo of her with a familiar-looking bucket:

"A short story of Angella Simon Pallangyo — Angella is in grade seven now. She is from another region known as Manyara. She came to Sakila Village to live with her Aunt, Mrs. Nahum Nnko. This girl is good in almost all subjects. Sometimes she gets number One in the class. Her ambition is to be a teacher. Her siblings live with their parents in Manyara Region. Nicholas, her brother didn't go on more with studies after completing Form Four. I think he did not get good pass. Angella says, although their family is poor, she wants one day to change it through education. Angella every year receives a lot of supplies/support from you sponsors including rice, honey, flour, clothes, and other many, many things. She has given me a photo taken some years ago and is attached in this story. God bless you."~Yours, Patrick S Nnko, Headmaster

Coincidence? You decide. But as for us, we think our Lord had a hand in putting these two stories together. It's so much fun to see the fruit of one's labor. Feeding the children each school day plays such an important roll in what we are doing. Some children attend our school just because they and their families know we will feed them. However, when they get to school they learn their ABCs and how much God loves them as well. You may find that you recognize the name of Angella's Aunt, Mrs. Nahum Nnko. That's because the story in the March newsletter is from the same family who took her in.

We noticed the remarkable improvement in Angella from when she first came to live with the Nahum Nnko family until now. The photo on the left is from 2010 and the one on the right is current. If you saw a close-up, you would notice that even her skin has improved. Her sponsors are a couple from Wyoming who love this little girl very much. They have actually traveled to Sakila and helped in the drilling of water wells both in Sakila and in other out-of-the-way areas.

Thank you for loving these Sakila kids and for your support and prayers for them and their families. We thank the Lord that you have chosen to bless children whom you may never see in person this side of Heaven. Working together with you in the service of our Lord,

Gene & Forraine Anderson
